

Experts Will Try to Find Crash Cause

By HORST BUCHHOLZ

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP)—French and American aviation experts converged today on a scorched swath of tropical rain jungle where an Air France Boeing 707 jetliner crashed in a raging thunderstorm after reporting landing gear trouble. All 112 persons aboard were killed.

Police blocked off the crash scene until representatives of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board and Federal Aviation Agency teamed with French air experts from Paris to inspect wreckage of the second worst single-plane disaster in commercial aviation history.

The four-engine airliner smashed into a hill and burst into flames on this French Caribbean island early Friday shortly after winging over Pointe-A-Pitre's Raizet Airfield in the start of a landing approach after a flight from Paris.

Officials said the pilot radioed as he passed over the field that he was having difficulty getting the landing gear down. The plane then swept out over the sea.

Minutes later, the control tower radar lost contact at about the same time explosions in the distance were noted. The explosions were taken by some as lightning cracking in the storm.

But after daylight searches spotted the wreckage on Mule's Back Hill 18 miles from the field, and one witness reported: "Nothing left...a horrible sight."

The plane slammed into the hill about 500 feet below its 2,000-foot crest, off the usual landing approach pattern. The pilot of another Air France liner here blamed the crash on the thunderstorm, saying "the ceiling was very low."

The fiery crash scattered wreckage over more than a mile of the thick undergrowth. Bodies hung from trees. A small girl, one of 11 youngsters killed in the crash, still clutched her doll in death.

Air France officials revised the casualty list several times Friday, finally placing the dead at 102 passengers and 10 crew members. No Americans were reported aboard.

This toll in a single-plane crash was exceeded only by the crash of another Air France Boeing 707 jet early this month which killed 130 persons, including 121 Americans on a European tour sponsored by the Atlanta Art Association.

The big Boeing jetliners have been involved in five commercial airline crashes killing a total of 302 persons in the past 17 months.

The London Daily Sketch urged today that the Boeing jets be grounded "until an acceptable explanation is found" for the crashes. But the Federal Aviation Agency said in Washington Friday night that it has no present plans to order them grounded.

"We have no evidence at this time on which to ground them," an FAA spokesman said. "If any evidence turns up we will ground them."

The downed plane was piloted by Capt. Andre Lesieur, one of Air France's most experienced pilots who had flown jets for President Charles deGaulle on several occasions.

Laos Rulers Agree Again on Coalition

By ANTOINE YARED

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma announced tonight agreement has been reached among the three Laotian factions on all points of difference which have been delaying the inauguration of a coalition government.

Souvanna, who will head the coalition, said the Cabinet will be installed Saturday.

Thus the off-again, on-again plans for establishing joint rightist, neutralist, leftist rule over this troubled land to make it neutral in the cold war appeared once more to be on.

The latest previous compromise agreement among the factions collapsed after less than 24 hours.

Weather

Partly cloudy to cloudy and mild through Sunday with periods of showers and thunderstorms. High today 75 to 85. Low tonight 62 to 72.

Plumbers Meet at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—The statewide apprenticeship plumbing and steamfitters contest opened today in El Dorado.

The two-day event is expected to attract entrants from Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Jonesboro, Hot Springs and El Dorado.

Winners will receive expense paid trips to Purdue University later in the summer for the ninth annual national contest.

Purpose of the competition, sponsored by the South Arkansas Apprenticeship Committee, is to encourage apprentices in local unions.

Charges Pile Up Against Billie Sol

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Fresh criminal charges piled up Thursday against Billie Sol Estes, the West Texas promoter whose chemical fertilizer, grain storage and cotton growing operations involved millions of dollars.

A federal grand jury indicted Estes, 37, on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy from one state to another.

There are 29 counts in the indictment, which also named three other men and a business firm. The same grand jury accused them earlier of fraud through mortgages on fertilizer tanks, charging some of the tanks never existed.

Estes' varied enterprises are in the hands of a court-appointed receiver. He testified last week that his debts exceed assets by about $17.5 million.

Creditors are studying a plan to reorganize and operate the businesses in hope of getting all their money back. Otherwise they have been advised the federal court will order bankruptcy proceedings.

Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said in Austin, at about the same time the indictment was returned here, that he will dig deeper into Estes' affairs in a court of inquiry at Pecos, the promoter's home town.

Wilson has sought information about Estes' grain storage and cotton allotment dealings and his relations with Washington officials in six previous courts of inquiry. He has given notice of intent to file a state antitrust suit against Estes.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason said he would not require additional bond of Estes, who posted $10,000 bail on the other federal indictments, returned April 5.

The court's ruling also applies to the other defendants, free under smaller bonds. They are Harold Orr, 31, and Ruel Alexander, 3, of Amarillo and Coleman McSpadden, 45, of Lubbock.

Orr is president of Superior Manufacturing Co., the firm named in the indictment. Alexander is secretary and McSpadden is a director of the tank building firm at Amarillo.

The latest indictment charges a scheme to defraud by selling fertilizer tanks and other equipment with promises for future delivery while the equipment never was built.

In Washington, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said additional and better information on the case provided a basis for the latest indictment. The grand jury was discharged after advising Judge Thomason its investigation of Estes had been completed.

Seven or eight witnesses were being summoned for the court of inquiry at Pecos, Wilson said. He would not disclose their names or discuss what phase of Estes' operations would be probed.

No Percentage Vote for Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office said Thursday that the National States Rights Party no longer has to qualify for political party status by getting any set percentage of the vote or having petitions signed.

The opinion was returned by Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack L. Lessenberry who noted that a 1961 law repealed a 1959 statute which set limitations on minor parties.

In 1960, the party nominated Gov. Orval E. Faubus for president and had to circulate petitions to get his name on the Arkansas ballot.

Lessenberry, in the opinion sought by Secretary of State Nancy Hall, said the party can skip a year and put up candidates on the ballot the following year, under the 1961 law.

Market Crisis Attributed to Several Things

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Hit by five consecutive losing sessions, the stock market languished today at its lowest level in nearly four years.

A sharp setback Friday capped a week of decline. An expected rally failed to materialize and the popular market averages sank through the year's low point reached May 29 at the bottom of the worst sell-off since 1929.

Brokers seeking reasons for the continued drop speculated that investors continued to be plagued by the emotional factors which triggered the big plunge May 28. Among these, they said, was anxiety over the business outlook.

Talk about the possibilities of a recession next year was also said to have put more dark emphasis on the business picture.

Discouraging business items of a more immediate nature were Phelps Dodge Corp.'s statement that it may have to reduce copper production, a drop in retail sales below the year-ago level for the first time in three months and a steep fall in automobile production because of a strike at a Ford Motor Co. stamping plant.

The Associated Press 60-stock average Friday skidded 3.40, to 202.50, lowest since Nov. 26, 1958. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 11.30 to 539.19, lowest since Oct. 28, 1958.

The scope of the decline in recent months is shown by comparison with the AP average's all-time high of 262.50 on Feb. 15 and the Dow Jones industrials' peak of 734.91 Dec. 13, 1961.

Blue chips among the industrials—stock considered the soundest investments—suffered in the week's final session. Sharp losses were taken by many steel, chemical, drug, airline, aerospace, rubber and mail order issues.

Some growth stocks, previously hard hit, weathered the storm and posted gains for the day.

While some Wall Street circles spoke of prospects for a summer rally, others guessed buying to push stocks up might not be found until the Dow Jones industrial average descends to around 520-525, the highest levels reached in 1956 and 1957.

Moslems Go Back to Work Despite Peril

By ANDREW BOROWICZ

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslems returned to work in droves in Algiers today, feeling the city's truce will stick despite continued scorched earth attacks by the Secret Army Organization in eastern and western Algeria.

Authorities reported a virtually 100 per cent return to work in all vital services of the city. For the first time in months, the city's streets were cleaned of piles of garbage.

A number of Moslems also returned to work in private companies. Several restaurants reopened and movie theaters advertised new films.

Moslem auxiliary policemen were being gradually put to work in European areas. They patrolled the streets in pairs and here and there attempted to direct traffic.

Officials said it was essential that the Europeans get used to the idea of Moslem policemen before independence next month.

Authorities believed that terror would not return to the city again. "Everybody is tired of war and fighting," one official said. "We believe this peace shows all indications of permanence."

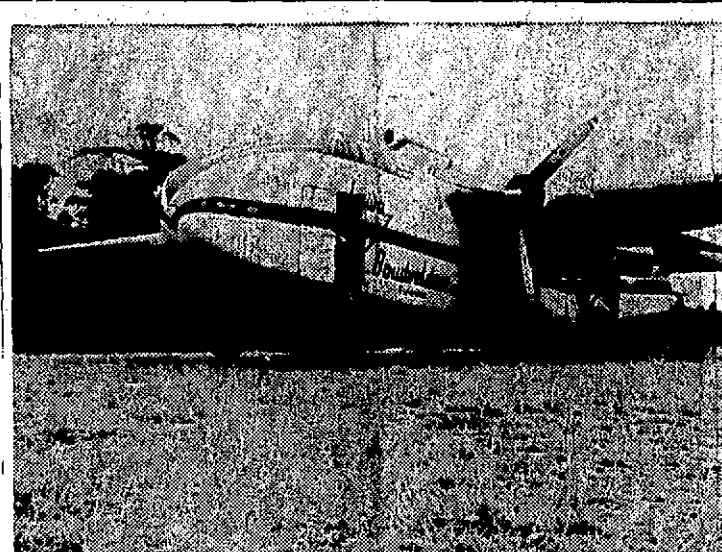

Authorities also were optimistic concerning the situation in western Algeria.

80th Wedding Anniversary

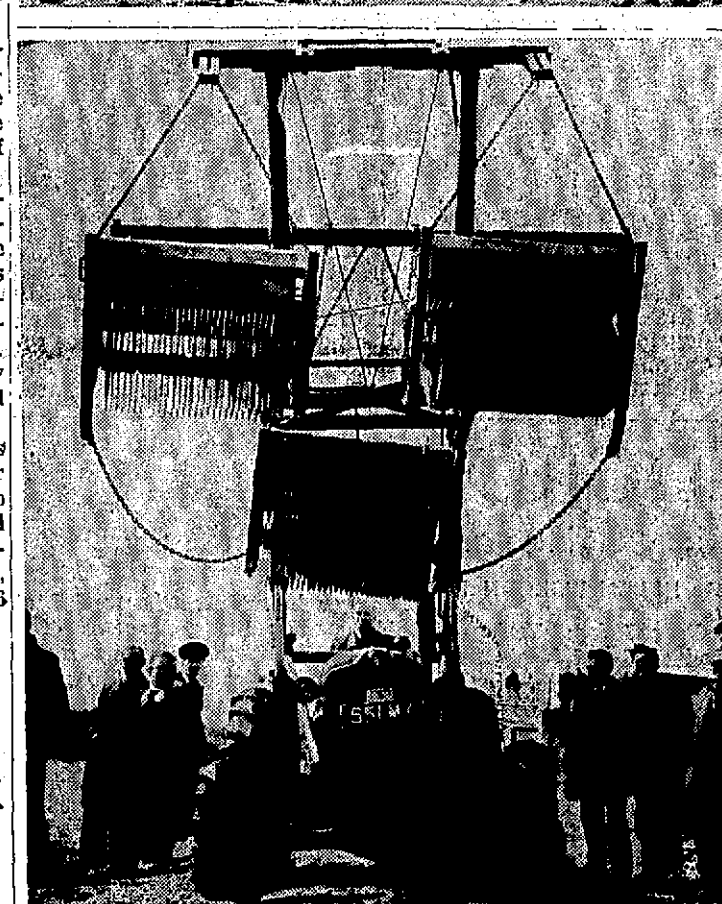

LONDON (AP)—James Burgess, 102, and his wife Ann, 98, celebrated their 80th wedding anniversary Thursday and claimed to be Britain's longest married couple.

They held an anniversary party at the house in Bermondsey, near the London docks, where they have lived for 75 years. Their eight children, now 79 to 59, are all married except the youngest daughter, Florence. She is 63 and keeps house for her parents.

"The reason for our happiness, I think, is because I've always worn the trousers in this house," said Burgess. "There's no other way."

JUNGLE JOBBER—A Jet Packet 1600 rears back on its hind legs, above, while being unloaded in the jungles of Surinam. The modernized version of the famed "Flying Boxcar" was transporting gold dredging equipment, below, to a roadless area of Dutch Guiana where airplanes are the only practical means of communication. Visible atop the fuselage of the Stewart-Davis Jet Packet is an auxiliary jet engine whose 1,600 pounds of thrust enable the plane to fly from small fields even with one propeller engine out.

Would Cost Some Drivers More Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Financially irresponsible drivers would have to pay an extra $20 a year to get a driver's license under a proposed law now under study by the Corporations, Insurance and Banking Committee of the state legislative council.

The bill would require insurance companies to include in all motorists' policies an optional provision protecting the injured person from those who were uninsured. To help the insurance companies finance the proposed low-cost protection, drivers who refuse to buy insurance or post the legally required bond of cash would have to pay an extra $20.

Pudaski County Rep. Sterling Cockrill Jr., submitted the bill to the committee Thursday, and appeared before the committee as a representative of the Arkansas Association of Insurance Agents. Cockrill is legislative chairman of the association.

The committee members decided to hear from other segments of the insurance industry before recommending the proposal to the full council, which will meet Friday morning in Little Rock.

Free of Charge

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Ben Looper reported his pickup truck stolen Thursday at Clarksville, but he got it back within three hours with a complete overhaul. A Clarksville motor company had been called to pick up an identical truck and got Looper's by mistake. "No charge," said a red-faced manager.

Generous Class Greeted by President

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Defense lawyers failed Wednesday in efforts to block further investigation of Billie Sol Estes by the federal grand jury which first indicted the West Texas promoter.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason denied motions to dismiss the 23 jurors or to permit private questioning of each to determine whether they were prejudiced.

Estes sat in the courtroom as one of his lawyers, John Cofer of Austin, claimed newspaper, magazine and broadcast accounts had led to biased opinions about the Estes case.

Cofer also asserted President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy both had voiced opinions concerning the guilt of Estes although there has been no conviction.

The grand jury indicted Estes and three other men in March on charges of fraud through mortgages on nonexistent chemical fertilizer tanks. It reconvened Wednesday for further investigation of Estes' affairs.

Cofer asked the court to instruct members of the panel to consider only sworn testimony and evidence, disregarding newspaper and magazine articles.

Judge Thomason denied the motion but said Cofer could submit the proposed instructions as an exhibit for the grand jury.

Loan to Dumas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approval of a $600,712 loan to help finance construction of 50 low-rent homes in Dumas, Ark., was announced Thursday by the Public Housing Administration.

Mountain Climbers Are Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today the mountain climbing party that includes a grandson of Woodrow Wilson has been found in Nepal. All four in the group which had been unreported for weeks were reported safe but weak.

The White House said Army headquarters in Katmandu received word at 4 p.m. today (Nepal time) that the three Americans and one Swiss had been located at a village called Khum Jung in the area of Namche Bazar.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the cable received by the White House and State Department described the four as "in weak condition."

They have requested evacuation by helicopter. The U.S. Embassy in Katmandu is trying to arrange for a helicopter flight, Salinger said.

One of the quartet is Woodrow Wilson Sayre, grandson of the late president and brother of the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of Washington Cathedral. He is a Tufts University professor.

The others are Norman Hanson, Boston lawyer; Roger Alan Hart, a Tufts research student, and Hans Peter Duttler, a school teacher who has Swiss citizenship.

Nothing had been heard from the climbers since they left their base camp in eastern Nepal May 2 for the final attempt to ascend Gya Chungkang peak, 25,910 feet high on the Nepal-Tibet border. The peak had never been mastered. It is situated 12 miles east of Mt. Everest.

The White House had no details. It was not immediately known how the climbers had been found nor what contact had been made with them.

Bell to Expand at Brinkley

BRINKLEY, Ark. (AP)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has announced plans to spend $50,000 to expand and improve its facilities in Brinkley.

O. D. Stough, Brinkley manager for Southwestern Bell, said the money will be spent for a brick building to house dial telephone and communications switching equipment. The new equipment will make long distance dialing possible for one and two-party customers. It is expected to go into service the middle of next year.

Arkla Village at Emmet will have its third annual Round Up next Saturday and Sunday, June 30-July 1. Many wonder if there are any new additions to the already-popular recreation and manufacturing center. And the answer is "Yes."

E. L. "Blue" Archer, general manager of the Village, recently took this reporter on a tour of it. In the manufacturing area, where Ben Harding is in charge, a gaily painted and authentic-looking circus wagon was under construction. It will be used for the first time at this year's Round Up.

Tickets to the square dance, where nationally known square dance caller Cal Golden will be, are to be sold from this circus wagon. After the festivities, this wagon will be available for use by other groups throughout the state.

Though the factory at Arkla Village originally had purchased the huggy manufacturing equipment from the Huntington, Ind., buggy plant, it has recently bought all the other equipment from the Huntington concern. Now, the Arkla Village plant is able to make other equipment including wagons, special orders, and all kinds of leather goods, besides their famous Arkla Village rockers and buggies.

The factory has recently been filling a special order for metal strips to go on a government order of the Bruner-Ivory Handle Co. of Hope. The saddles, both Western and English, are beautifully crafted. And, because they are up-to-date, foam rubber is used as padding for the comfort of the rider.

Last year between three and four thousand attended the Arkla Village Round Up, but this year about 10,000 are expected. There will be no admission charged at the gate, and all those entering

Some Students Skip in School

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The University of Tennessee is considering a plan which would allow bright high school juniors to advance straight to college.

Under the proposal, the student would skip his senior year in high school and possibly receive a high school diploma at the end of his freshman year in college.

The idea is to encourage gifted students to advance rapidly.

Church Asks Pardon After 55 Years

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. asked forgiveness Thursday by the smaller Cumberland Presbyterian Church for a matter 55 years old.

The unusual action came during the second session of the 132nd General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, meeting in Little Rock.

Dr. W. Glen Harris of Birmingham, Mich., a fraternal delegate from the United Presbyterian Church, brought a message to the assembly concerning a split in 1810 when the Cumberland branch left the parent church.

In 1906-07, two thirds of the Cumberland Presbyterians rejoined the mother church and a series of lawsuits ensued over property.

United Presbyterians number some three million while there are about 100,000 Cumberland Presbyterians today.

"Though we believe we were legally correct 55 years ago, it is clear that we in the larger church should recognize and repent what we did to these Christian brothers," Dr. Harris said.

"We are conscious, too, that 55 years ago and in the years immediately following, our church appeared to be more interested in church property and legal rights than in Christian love and witness."

"For this, too, we ask your forgiveness," the delegate said.

Other fraternal delegates appearing Thursday were Dr. P. D. Miller of Atlanta for the Presbyterian Church of the United States; Dr. Paul Stroup of Memphis, for the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church; Dr. Lester Kuyper of Holland, Mich., for the Reformed Church in America; and the Rev. S. R. Nelson of Muskogee, Okla., for the Second (Negro) Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

The assembly and convention winds up Monday.

Reporter Tours Village of Arkla, Emmet, on Eve of Annual Roundup Time

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Arkla Village at Emmet will have its third annual Round Up next Saturday and Sunday, June 30-July 1. Many wonder if there are any new additions to the already-popular recreation and manufacturing center. And the answer is "Yes."

E. L. "Blue" Archer, general manager of the Village, recently took this reporter on a tour of it. In the manufacturing area, where Ben Harding is in charge, a gaily painted and authentic-looking circus wagon was under construction. It will be used for the first time at this year's Round Up.

Tickets to the square dance, where nationally known square dance caller Cal Golden will be, are to be sold from this circus wagon. After the festivities, this wagon will be available for use by other groups throughout the state.

Though the factory at Arkla Village originally had purchased the huggy manufacturing equipment from the Huntington, Ind., buggy plant, it has recently bought all the other equipment from the Huntington concern. Now, the Arkla Village plant is able to make other equipment including wagons, special orders, and all kinds of leather goods, besides their famous Arkla Village rockers and buggies.

The factory has recently been filling a special order for metal strips to go on a government order of the Bruner-Ivory Handle Co. of Hope. The saddles, both Western and English, are beautifully crafted. And, because they are up-to-date, foam rubber is used as padding for the comfort of the rider.

Last year between three and four thousand attended the Arkla Village Round Up, but this year about 10,000 are expected. There will be no admission charged at the gate, and all those entering will be given a ticket and therefore an opportunity to win an Arkla Village rocker or a saddle stool at the drawings held every hour.

A trip to the Saloon is always fun, whether it's a Round Up or not. You can drink sassafras while listening to the playen piano. There is no "Miss Kitty" at this Saloon, but there is a "Miss Betty" instead. She'll tell you the Saloon has 300 piano rolls from which to select ranging from 1910 numbers to some performed by Liberace. On the walls, finished in natural wood, hang Civil War pistols belonging to Judge Harry J. Lemley, and shotguns over 100 years old. A beautiful mirror behind the bar reflects the tables on which checker boards are apt to be seen.

In the adjoining General Store can be found almost anything from the barrel of crackers to picture post cards. Miss Betty's husband, Roy Roebuck, is happy to have you there. Down the wooden sidewalk you find a museum with such items as the saddle-bag of medical kit of surgical instruments, once used by Dr. J. S. Waddle of Centerville, and the large pin collection of Talbot Peild, Sr. of Texarkana.

A jail, which never houses any one, and a steamboat which holds as many as 10 children and six adults, are other attractions of Arkla Village anytime of the year.

The steamboat pilot might be any number of different people, including Emmet Mayor Otis Townsend. As far food, go to the Chuck Wagon restaurant and you'll find none finer.

Events at the Round Up will include bowling tournaments, a bait casting contest, a nice horse show, a barbershop quartet singing political speeches, and a sharp-shooting exhibition by one of the country's best, Major Harold Terry of Caddo Parish, La.

Faubus Refuses to Debate With Dale Alford

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The running feud between gubernatorial candidates Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Dale Alford apparently will remain one-sided at present with the incumbent governor assuming a "hands off" policy.

Faubus Friday refused an offer by the Little Rock congressman to a public debate on "why you are opposing Dale Alford for governor."

The governor declined "for the present," saying he didn't want to create an audience for an opponent. But he hinted at possible action to come.

The dispute between Faubus and Alford centers around why the two split.

Faubus says it was over congressional redistricting while Alford contends he left the Faubus fold because the governor had "left the people."

Most of the candidates spent Friday continuing their hand-shaking tours of the state while Faubus made a non-political appearance at Hot Springs.

The governor's headquarters said he has no weekend appearances scheduled but may offer jobs at the continuing attack by Alford.

Speaking to the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Hot Springs, Faubus touched on politics only lightly saying all his opponents were fine men but should find some other issue to campaign on than criticism of his administration which he termed "has not been so bad."

Former Gov. Sid McMath spent Friday in west Arkansas, stopping at Mena, Glenwood, Murfreesboro, Nashville, DeQueen, Dierks, and Mena. McMath was to hold a news conference this afternoon to discuss state banking deposits.

Today, Alford was to travel a similar route that McMath took Friday.

Keneth Coffelt spent Friday in Little Rock and Stuttgart, and has a radio address scheduled for tonight in Forrest City.

Arkansan Joins the Peace Corps

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Phillip Kees, 22, of Little Rock, was scheduled to leave today for San Jose State College in San Jose, Calif., to train as a Peace Corps volunteer to the Philippines.

He graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1961 with a degree in business administration. He will teach English for two years in the Philippines.

Farming Bill Has Bumper Word Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farm bill being debated in the House may or may not reduce surplus farm crops, but one thing is certain: It is producing a bumper crop of words.

All the basic oratorical clichés are blooming in rich profusion, and even such exotic offshoots as poetry, cheers and boos are thriving in the hot and heavy climate.

Farm economics is as impenetrable a subject as it is possible to find for debate, but its intricacies offer no obstacle to the leather-lunged House orators.

Who needs to explain parity when there is Billie Sol Estes and his grain storage dealings to talk about? Why mention acreage allotments when you can discuss former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson? If marketing quotas are hard to understand, straightjackets aren't.

"The only recourse for those of you who don't want to put the farmer into a straightjacket is to vote against the bill," said Rep. Charles B. Hoeven, R-Iowa, delivering a typical thrust of the Republican opponents to the bill.

"How many of you consider compulsory education as placing the children of the nation in a straightjacket?" asked Rep. W. R. Page, D-Tex., executing a typical riposte of the Democrats favoring the bill. "Are we going to repeal compulsory education because it puts them in a straight jacket?"

Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., said the Rural Electrification Administration is expanding its operations so that it may soon be financing "the spotlights and other lighting devices used to illuminate the talents of exotic dancers" in night clubs.

The poetic muse visited each party. Rep. D. R. (Billy) Matthews, D-Fla., dashed off a ditty poking fun at the straightjacket argument of the opponents. Rep. Don L. Short, R-N.D., a farmer himself, delivered a rhymed reply ending:

"So now, Billy says, 'your argument sounds silly.'
"But it's me that would be put in the jacket, not Billie."

TV Has Own Special Use for Words

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, like other occupations and businesses, has its own jargon—special use for words. But it is a swinging thing, subject to change from season to season.

Herewith, then, a quick updating of some of the recent twists and turns of televisionese:

"Interview in depth"—Any talk session lasting more than two minutes, including the routine identification, occupation, are you married and how many children questions.

"Dramatized documentary"—A play about narcotic addiction or juvenile delinquency.

"Adult drama"—Not a western or private-eye and the characters will use one or two mild swear words.

"Topical humor"—Wise cracks about anybody named Kennedy.

"Instant news special"—Latterly and fuller repetition of material used earlier on a regular news show but with a different sponsor.

"Selected re-runs"—We need 13 shows to fill out the season, Charlie, pick up a batch from the vault and give me a list of the titles.

Sunday night's Ed Sullivan Show—a really big one because his 14th anniversary show closing the season—has so many stars (largely appearing in taped sequences) that they have had to list them alphabetically. The list runs from Steve Allen to Kate Smith (with names like Benny Crosby and Lucille Ball in between).

But Sylvia Sullivan, Ed's attractive wife for 32 years, will be watching, as usual, a television set in the couple's apartment in a Park Avenue hotel.

"I don't think I've seen the program from the studio more than three times in all the years"

State Leads in Cash Farm Income

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Preliminary figures compiled by the F. W. Dodge Corp., the United States Department of Agriculture and the research department of the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis indicate the Little Rock area is in a healthy economic period.

Retail furniture sales, cash farm income, bank debits and department store sales all are on the increase.

In retail furniture sales, the Little Rock area of the Eighth Federal Reserve District showed an increase of 1 per cent in April compared to March. Sales in April increased 1 per cent compared to the same month in 1961.

Stores in Little Rock, Blytheville, Pine Bluff and Fort Smith were tallied in the measurement, which is preliminary and subject to revision.

In the area of cash farm income, Arkansas led all sections in the eighth district according to USDA estimates. The state's cash farm income was up 21 per cent in April this year, compared to April, 1961. For the first four months of the year, Arkansas' cash farm income climbed 7 per cent compared to the same period last year, and 18 per cent compared to the first four months of 1960.

The next largest percentage increase was recorded by Tennessee, a 13 per cent rise to $2,630,000. Arkansas' estimated cash farm income in April was $30,885,000.

Department store sales in the Little Rock area jumped 11 per cent in April compared to the previous month. Stocks on hand the first four months of 1962 were 11 per cent higher than in the first four months of last year.

Sales in the Fort Smith area increased in April eight per cent compared to March, and soared 27 per cent compared to April 1961. For the first four months of this year, Fort Smith recorded the largest increase, 1 per cent, of any other area in the Federal Reserve District.

A special sample was constructed for Fort Smith, not confined exclusively to department stores. Fayetteville and Pine Bluff also were checked for sales, and contributed to the Little Rock and Fort Smith totals.

Bank debits in the Little Rock area went up to $990,800,000 in May of this year, an increase of 7 per cent compared to April. In other reporting centers, increases were shown at El Dorado (9 per cent), at Fort Smith (3 per cent), at Helena (4 per cent), at Pine Bluff (11 per cent) and at Texarkana (10 per cent).

State Projects in Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A military construction program totaling $1,450,692,000 was approved by voice vote in the Senate Thursday. The measure is subject to appropriations and Senate changes must be considered by the House.

Arkansas projects are $50,000 for operational facilities at Blytheville Air Force Base and $15,000 for operational and maintenance facilities at Little Rock Air Force Base.

Hue and Cry of Readers

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You've probably had plenty of blasts from readers who thought "Long Suffering Daughter" — in — Law" should be shipped to Kamchatka for condemning her father-in-law to solitary confinement in the two-by-four room which she and her husband allotted him.

I am a young divorcee of three years with a four-year-old daughter. After my husband and I separated my mother came to live with me, so that I might keep my job as secretary and thus support my little girl and myself.

Besides taking care of Baby, doing the cooking and housework, my dear mother—bless her soul—still found time to earn a little extra money for herself by laundering fancy curtains for friends.

She is the matriarch of the neighborhood, the spotless way she keeps the house, the attractiveness of her appearance. All in my opinion because she is needed. I do not agree with "Long Suffering Daughter-in-Law" that "old folks should retire to their quarters graciously, keeping their opinions to themselves," or feel compelled to "bring home surprises for the family."

Old and young should enjoy visitors together as a family. If I were Long-Suffering Daughter-in-Law's father-in-law, I would retreat to an old folks' home rather than cross her threshold. She reveals herself as a self-centered individual interested only in herself and immediate family. Old people should be honored, never belittled nor banished. — A. D., ast Haven, Conn.

Dear A.: It all depends upon the individual so it's not easy to generalize but, as a rule, problems do arise when two generations are forced to live under one roof. The incompatibility of older and younger people in the same family remains a major problem in the United States today. Both groups are woefully lacking in tolerance, understanding and genuine devotion, one for the other. You evidently have all these for your mother; therefore she thrives. It might not be such a happy arrangement had you a husband and were at home, or were you not her flesh and blood.

Dear Helen: The school teacher who calls working mothers—especially those who don't work from necessity—unscrupulous and irresponsible, is talking through her hat. My mother and I also question the good sense of the statement that working mothers can be divided into two groups; those who work from necessity and raise their children to be law-abiding citizens; and those who selfishly work for luxuries and, as a consequence have children whose ultimate end is the penitentiary.

I am a 13-year-old girl whose mother works to give me and my sister advantages we might not otherwise have. Though no angel, I'm not on the way to the penitentiary. I make good grades at school and come straight home when it closes. My mother gets off at seven in the evening and is home promptly at 7:30.

She has worked ever since I can remember except for the first few weeks of my sister's life. We have never lacked for love and care. Our mother rarely buys anything for herself—not that she needs to. The money she earns either goes in a savings bank toward our future education or in little things for us. We have all any girls could wish for. —Susan Miller, St. Joseph, Mo.

Dear Susan: It depends upon the individual. Your mother works for unselfish reasons—to benefit you and your sister, not herself. As a consequence she must be a woman of intelligence and principle. With her for an example, how could you be otherwise than dependable yourself?

Dear Helen: I'm 100 per cent for you, especially when you say it is every woman's duty to look her best, young or old. I am 46, tint my gray hair a reddish blonde, have blue eyes which I rim with a green liquid eye-liner (very fine accent), use brown roll-on mascara and a light make-up base on my face. If properly done, the effect is completely natural and, as a result, I do look far younger than my age. I have a lithe, trim figure, walk correctly and look, as I feel, happy and healthy.

I am a grandmother—my eldest son being the father of two little girls. My second son is 19 and our third child, a darling daughter, is 5. My husband keeps himself just as physically fit. We celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary last April 25 and are more in love than ever. Perhaps it is because we appreciate one another and aren't slow to say so. I don't nag, nor does he. For

Name Lower House Makes Them Mad

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — You'd better smile, pardner, if you call the U.S. House of Representatives the "lower house."

Otherwise you're in trouble with House members. For there is nothing in the Constitution which says the Senate is higher than the House. They are co-equal. As a matter of fact, some authorities feel that if either branch is expendable it is the Senate, not the House.

But though House members get the same pay—$22,500—as senators, it has long been surmised that many of them have hidden inferiority complexes. For one thing, the size of the House (437 as against 100 senators) tends to dilute an individual member's prestige. And to get any work done, the House has developed rules which regiment its run-of-the-mill members. No representative can make a marathon speech, for example.

At any rate, the House has long suspected the Senate of haughtiness. So now representatives have their backs up. They are insisting that the chairmanship of Senate-House Conference Committees appointed to iron out differences in appropriations bills shall rotate instead of always being held by a senator. This dispute has tied up several appropriations bills and many government employees face payless paydays, including the valiant Secret Service.

Though the Constitution makes no mention of it, some people contend Congress has a "third house"—namely its system of conference committees. When Senate and House pass a bill in different form a conference committee usually is appointed to reconcile the differences.

Working in secret, conferees wield great power. Sometimes in the past they have altered legislation almost beyond recognition. And sometimes, especially in session-end logjams, Congress has passed the conferees' "compromise" without knowing exactly what was in it.

Suggestions sometimes have been made that America could get along with a one-chamber Congress. Many foreign countries and one American state, Nebraska, manage to do it. But it is inconceivable that either Senate or House would vote for a constitutional amendment to put itself out of business.

The present clash between Senate and House, though tense, is conducted quietly in gentlemanly fashion. Both chambers have rules against using the floor to speak ill of colleagues in either house.

Gone are the good old days when Congressman "Sockless Jerry" Simpson (1842-1905) of Kansas could arise on the House floor and call a colleague "a political cannibal autocrat."

Nowadays the steam seems to have gone out of presidential language too. It is hard to imagine President Kennedy saying of any senator what President Andrew Jackson wrote of John C. Calhoun in 1822:

"His best former friends say he ought to be hanged."

Raymond J. Crowley substitutes today for James Marlow, who is ill.

Park Ticket Problems

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—City and military officials will meet Monday to iron out problems connected with military vehicles accumulating 500 unpaid parking tickets in Little Rock. The meeting will be between city officers and commanders of the Marine, Army, Navy and Air Force recruiting units. The accumulated tickets were brought to light last week by Traffic Judge John L. Sullivan who complained the services were abusing certain privileges.

Building Dog Houses

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—The city of West Memphis is building dog houses behind City Hall but is having trouble finding German Shepherd police dogs to fill them. Mayor Howell B. Price says everything is ready except for the dogs which have to meet rigid specifications. Pine Bluff is believed to be the only Arkansas city using such dogs at present.

Defense Fails to Block Estes Probe

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy greeted graduates of Michigan's Glen Lake Community High School at the White House today and told them "no group of high school students has ever been more welcome in Washington or at this house."

The 33 students received special acclaim because they decided to give up their long-planned class trip to Washington and use their savings to help pay the medical bills of an ailing classmate.

Outpouring of gifts from other sources enabled them to make the trip anyway.

"All the lessons that a trip to this capital and this house might have taught you, you learned in your own hometown," the President said.

Speaking to the group in the rose garden of the White House, Kennedy told them "this house belongs to you. Many of the people you've read about in your history books lived here."

Kennedy called to his side Duane Richardson, 17, the class member whose illness brought about the generosity of his classmates.

He shook hands also with other class members and promised to sign diplomas and other items "if you'll leave them at the White House, and I'll send them to your hotel."

The visit with Kennedy climaxed an hour-long guided tour of the White House, to which the students had looked forward eagerly.

Explosive Point Over Dutch Guinea

By DON HUTH

SINGAPORE (AP)—A potential explosive point has been reached in Indonesia's dispute with the Dutch over West New Guinea.

President Sukarno's attitude on the issue is swinging toward open conflict. It will be hard for him to back up without losing face. He has promised the Indonesian people West New Guinea will be theirs by the end of this year.

Sukarno has bluffed before, but there is an air of concern that this time he means what he says.

His public statements, until early this month, put more emphasis on a negotiated settlement of the West New Guinea issue under a plan sponsored by American diplomat Ellsworth Bunker. This proposal eventually would give the right of self-determination to the predominantly Papuan population of New Guinea.

The president's attitude now has changed and he is making no pretense of concealing it. His chief spokesman, Foreign Minister Subandrio, says Sukarno is telling his advisers that a military showdown is the only solution.

Indonesian officials, from Subandrio down, talk more today of open conflict than they do of a diplomatic decision. Senior military officials, especially those working with the present operations against New Guinea, are ready to take the plunge.

Sukarno can be assured of support from his people if he decides on an all-out fight. He still wields a magnetic influence over his 100 million people who believe "Bung Karno" can do no wrong.

The government-controlled press is urging him to discard any thought of negotiation and to launch a full-scale liberation campaign.

Indonesian officials appear convinced that the major Western powers would not interfere if war comes over West New Guinea. They look to the Soviet Union and other Communist countries to support their cause.

Buildup in China Seen as Defense

By ROY ESSOYAN

HONG KONG (AP)—Most Western intelligence sources in Hong Kong believe Red China's current military buildup opposite the Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu is defensive. But they do not discount the possibility of a Communist attack.

These sources believe that any Red attack would most likely be triggered by fears that President Chiang Kai-shek's regime was going to try to make good his vow to retake the Chinese mainland.

"I'd be very surprised if the Chinese Communists launched an offensive," one well-placed intelligence informant said today. "I think the chances are about 3-1 against it. But if they felt the Chinese Nationalists were about to attack, they would probably want to beat them to the punch."

Top Nationalist officials have been predicting an offensive against Red China for some time. But the possibility seems remote. The Nationalists have said they would launch an attack only after an uprising on the mainland. The recent exodus of hungry refugees from Red China to Hong Kong prompted anti-Communist newspapers here and in Formosa to declare the time for an assault had come. But Western officials believe the Red regime is still firmly in power despite critical food shortages in China.

A Nationalist attack also would need U.S. logistic support at least to have any chance of success. The United States has given no indication that such aid would be forthcoming.

Nationalist officials in Taipei received Washington and London reports of the Red buildup with outward calm. Chinese Nationalist military commanders are confident they can withstand an all-out Communist assault on Quemoy, the larger of the two islands, even though it is flanked on three sides by the Chinese mainland.

Communist artillery fired 39 shells at Quemoy in an 85-minute period Thursday night. This was not unusual, however. The islands are much better defended today than in 1958 when the Communists made a determined but unsuccessful effort to crush them by artillery bombardment.

Unofficial sources in Formosa believe reports of restrictions on civilian rail travel in South China might have erroneously contributed to the conclusion that extensive military movements are underway. They said it is possible the Chinese Communists are making large-scale shifts of urban populations to rural areas in an attempt to speed up farm production.

But Hong Kong intelligence sources confirmed that the Chinese Communists are moving more planes and troops into the

Seen he would be on a plane, headed for Rio.

Brian Carlisle mopped his moist brow. He could breathe easier now. It had gone off without a hitch. But then, he had planned it very carefully.

The idea of robbing the bank had come to him one dreary day when he could no longer bear the cheap rooming houses in which he lived; and the gritty diners in which he ate. A heart condition kept him from most kinds of employment, and he found the jobs that were left to him were generally dull, dirty, or poorly salaried.

He studied his cracked reflection in the small, rectangular mirror above the night-table. His shirt collar was frayed and grimy. The gaudy tie blared its cheapness in the unmerciful light of the bare bulb in the wall socket over the mirror. His greyish, pallid face was lined sick, but the eyes burned with excitement. Soon he would be on a plane, headed for Rio, and luxury.

Monk and Otto were fools to think he would share the money with them. He had needed them for the robbery, but not anymore. The three of them had parted soon after the bank job. This was part of Carlisle's "plan." He told them he would put the money in a locker at the railroad station. Then they would wait a week before splitting the loot. By that time, the police would be busy on a hundred different false leads.

But Monk and Otto would be around asking for their share before the week was up. That's why he was going away today. He'd given the locker key to his landlady, Mrs. White, with a description of Monk and Otto, and instructions for her to give them the key.

He laughed aloud at the thought of them rushing off to open an empty locker. Even now, the money lay inside a brown paper bag, beneath the wads of crumpled paper in his wastebasket. It.

She began by packing up the rest of his clothes in the suitcase. He really didn't have much of anything. She could find only a few books, a cheap ring, a bunch of junk under the bed, and a full wastebasket.

She kept the books and the ring, stored the suitcase just in case he came back, and burned the junk and the contents of the wastebasket.

But she still had the key, Mr. Carlisle had given her. She guessed she'd go down there after lunch and see what sort of treasure might be waiting for her.

Butane Tanks Are Shattered

DE QUEEN, Ark. (AP) — Two shattered explosions touched off a fire which destroyed the Gray Wholesale Butane, Inc., building here today.

Alfred Presley, who witnessed the blasts from across the street, was knocked down by concussion but he was not hurt. No one was injured. The building was empty at the time.

Eddie Gray, owner of the building, which was completed in January, estimated the loss at $75,000. The building cost $45,000.

A butane truck parked inside the building also was destroyed. Gray said he believed a leak in an air compressor touched off the explosions, which shattered windows in buildings across the street.

The explosions could be heard all over town. The blasts occurred about 6:30 a.m., about one hour and 15 minutes before Gray, his wife and their three employees were scheduled to report for work.

Opportunity knocks. God is calling. Their eyes are on the future and their ears attuned to the marvelous workings of His great universe. They are the new Adam and Eve; here the race gets a fresh start. The family, the state, the church will be determined by the "Straight Ahead" way they go. Our hope is here.

Love and faith conquer the world. Earth and sea, and sky do their bidding as they go forward to possess the earth. Clean of blood, alert of mind, and warm of heart, they "press onward to the mark of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus." They learned in church that they would need the Shepherd's staff when they pass through the valley of the shadow. They know that a profound trust in Almighty God will deliver them to the port of entry to the Kingdom of God, as they march determinedly "Straight Ahead."

So They May See == Psalm 19 == So They May Hear

THE HEAVENS DECLARE the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handy-work.

2. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge.

3. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard.

4. Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun,

5. Which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a strong man to run a race.

6. His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof.

7. The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple.

THE STATUTES of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes.

9. The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.

10. More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.

11. Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward.

12. Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults.

13. Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me: then shall I be upright, and I shall be innocent from the great transgression.

14. Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.
